The pressure was on to block the punt Friday afternoon during the Junior Football championship game played in Haliburton. Despite the efforts of the Redmen defenders, the Fenelon kicker, partially hidden on the left, managed to get the kick away. The Redmen went on to win the game and the Kawartha West championship in overtime.

Juniors win Kawartha West title

by Jerry Grozelle

The game had to go into overtime before the HHSS Junior Football team captured the Kawartha West championship. The title was decided late Friday afternoon in Haliburton as the Redmen faced the Fenelon Falls Falcons.

The Redmen scored one point in the first quarter on a safety after a punt by Ryan O'Neill. That score held until the fourth quarter, when the Falcons scored a touchdown and added a two-point conversion. With three minutes left in the fourth quarter and Fenelon in front by an 8-1 margin, Jason Henry scored Haliburton's first touchdown of the game.

That cut Fenelon's lead to 8-7. O'Neill's convert attempt was wide.

"We had to fight for every inch to get that touchdown," said coach Bruce Griffith.

A fumble recovery set the stage for the tying point for the Redmen.

"Ryan had the biggest punt of his career," Griffith said. "He kicked the ball through the end zone from 40 yards out."

That tied the game at 8-8. The Redmen held Fenelon at bay until the end of regulation time, forcing overtime.

"That kick really fired up the team," Griffith said.

The overtime momentum remained with the Redmen. Jason Henry scored a touchdown, which was converted by O'Neill. That gave Haliburton a 15-8 advantage. Jon Swinson added a third Haliburton touchdown, which was also converted by O'Neill, for a final score of 22-8.

"There were no superstars," Griffith said. "Everybody played a good game."

"The defence won it for us," Griffith added. "They didn't give up."

Redmen intercepted or blocked numerous Fenelon pass attempts.

Griffith said that the offensive line played a great game as well. He pointed out that Adam Durkin caught the only completed pass of about eight throughout the game.

Although the final score was 22-8, Griffith admits the score is not an indication of the calibre of the competition. Fenelon staved off the Haliburton attack with several stands within their 10 yard line.

Hard hitting was the order of the day, with several players from each side being helped or carried from the field.

"Every guy we carried off the field came back to play again," coach Griffith stated proudly. "They really wanted to win."

With the Kawartha West championship under their belts, the Redmen will go to Peterborough this Thursday to take on the Crestwood Mustangs for the Kawartha title.

Economic group looking for a home

by Jerry Grozelle

The Minden 2000 Committee, also known as the Minden Economic Development Committee, wants to set up shop at the Pritchard house at the corner of Prince and Milne streets. The property was recently purchased by the Municipality of Anson, Hindon and Minden.

Larry Hodgson and Carolyn Coburn, representing the committee, attended Thursday's council meeting as an unofficial delegation to explain the committee's intentions.

Hodgson said that the building could be renovated and put to use by several community groups.

"The house should be utilized," Hodgson said. "It shouldn't be sitting vacant. It could be a focus point for our group. We could set up a computer terminal... it could be a place where people could go or phone in."

Hodgson said that the facility would be used intermittently at first, but eventually it could be a full time office.

It was pointed out that the only heating in the building, which served as a solicitor's office before it was purchased by the municipality, is electric baseboard units on the ground floor and one electric heater in the basement. The building had been heated with a hot water circulating system, but that system has been removed.

In addition to the heating, the building needs a new roof and plumbing repairs.

Hodgson said the Minden 2000 Committee may be interested in the building as a project to turn it into a community facility.

Councillor Grant Plooard said that the intent of council when the property was purchased was to have the building moved to another location so the parking lot could be expanded.

Carolyn Coburn said the committee needs a physical presence, which could be

Someone to listen

by Andrew Milne

Brenda (not her real name) discovered in early November, around a year ago, that she had breast cancer — a sizeable tumour that would have to be removed, and quickly.

It was very sudden. An operation was scheduled as soon as possible. And Brenda and her family very abruptly found themselves confronting an entirely new set of problems they hadn't anticipated. Brenda, for her part, found herself facing, head on, the very real possibility of dying.

Says Brenda, "If I hadn't had the hospice people, I'm not sure where I would be today. I'm a pretty strong-willed person, but facing something like this sets you back on your fanny in a big hurry... They were here to listen, just to hear my tears, to hear my joys, whatever."

Brenda's listeners came from SIRCH's hospice program. Hospice organizations counsel people facing life-threatening illnesses. They volunteer in the homes and at the sickbeds of seriously ill people, and some of the people they will get to know will

Public comments still welcome

by Andrew Milne

Public comment on the Snowdon landfill issue is still welcome, said an environment ministry source last week.

Bill Thompson, the Ministry of Environment and Energy (MOEE) representative handling Irondale residents Snowdon's application to accept 6,000 tonnes of

'shredder waste' from an Whitby area auto wrecker, said also that the township does have a responsibility to give adjoining landowners an opportunity to comment — and to forward to the MOEE any comments they receive.

Irondale residents have criticized the Snowdon government for failing to give them reasonable time in which to respond. The letter to adjoining landowners gave only days in which to respond before a deadline the municipality had imposed for comment.

Said Thompson, "Part of the documentation we require before reviewing the case is proof that they had notified the adjoining neighbours, and that the neighbours had been given the opportunity to respond, and that we had been advised of any of the responses they had received."

Thompson says the township has forwarded the letter it circulated to adjoining landowners to notify them of the process, along with one letter received from the landowners.

Council to consider access

achieved with office space in Minden.

Reeve Jeanne Anthon noted that renovations to the house could be an expensive proposition.

"We should look at the house as a community resource," Hodgson said. "It could be a project of the organization."

Councillor Daryl Moore said that the Minden 2000 Committee needs to define some clear goals, objectives and direction before people can be expected to get behind the organization. He suggested that it is putting the cart before the horse to get a building first. He wants to know what would be going into the building, how the space would be used and how the building would be maintained before he would be willing to give "open-ended" support.

Hodgson said the goals of the committee have been redefined and that new information is being continually received.

He said that community economic development is being forced because of the current economic climate and that the goals and objectives are changing accordingly.

"It's like an onion," Hodgson said. "We keep peeling off the layers to get at the core. It is not a linear type of progression. We're trying to develop a better sense of direction."

A decision about whether or not the building may be utilized as a community resource has been deferred pending examination by both the municipality and the Minden 2000 Committee representatives to determine its suitability for such a facility.

Hyland Crest Auxiliary seeking new members

The Hyland Crest Auxiliary would welcome some new members. Auxiliary President Billie Shuyler said the main goal of the organization is to raise funds to help purchase equipment, gifts and supplies for the residents.

The Auxiliary organizes teas twice a month for the residents. Bake sales and other events are co-ordinated by Auxiliary members.

"We need a chair for the beauty salon," Shuyler said.

That is one of the items on the equipment list.

As Auxiliary member Muriel Harrington explained, "All the money goes back to the residents -- anything to make the residents more comfortable."

The Auxiliary holds meetings once a month, with the exception of July, August and December -- nine meetings per year. It currently has about 30 members, not all of whom are able to make it to every meeting.

"We need everybody we can get," Shuyler said, adding that the Auxiliary is not the exclusive domain of women. Men are welcome to participate as well.

The November meeting is today (Monday, October 28) at 1 p.m. The next meeting won't be until January. Anyone interested in getting involved with the Hyland Crest Auxiliary should contact Billie Shuyler at 286-4531 or Muriel Harrington at 286-2608.

Helping people through troubling times

die.

Dorothy Owens, coordinator of the program, says, however, that the experiences volunteers tend to take from the program are anything but depressing.

Says Owens, "Sometimes you're very sad for the family, or for the person when times are very difficult... But from a personal point of view, I see colours brighter. I admire the trees more. I think people start to envision things from the eyes of a person facing a life-threatening illness, in that sense, in that they appreciate the good things. And maybe it puts me a little more in tune with reality, as opposed to focusing on the little things that might get me upset. I think some of the volunteers have found that too."

"Our aim is to enhance the quality of life of a person facing a life-threatening illness. And somehow, and it's a vague sort of thing, our life is enhanced as well. I think our volunteers will tell you: we learn so much from a client."

Marsha Fults went through the first training program the centre ran (training is extensive), and has now been volunteering with the hospice for around a year. Fults says yes, her experience with the hospice has most definitely, though subtly, changed her.

"I was always one of these people," she says, "who believed that to be strong you don't feel emotions. And I find now, going through all this that you can be emotional and still be strong. I don't know how else to describe it."

The rigours of the work, she says, are very real, and volunteers have to know their limits. Nonetheless, she has no regrets about her involvement, and the rewards also feel very real to her.

"It can become very stressful if you allow it to be," she says. "You have to sort of sit back every so often and take a couple of deep breaths. But life does go on, and as long as you have accomplished something in their life that makes it a little easier, that makes you feel good."

Fults got involved with the program, as seems to be something of a pattern, after her own very direct experience. Her father died a few years ago, and the possibility of getting some assistance from a hospice program came up. They didn't use it, she says, but she was intrigued.

"We tried to do for my father what hospice does — to be there with him to the end. And of course you're so involved when it's your family. I wondered what I might be able to do for someone who was more of a stranger. I felt I should be able to help. And that's how it is I got involved."

"There's good and there's bad," she says, "But you weigh the two. You get involved, but you don't get yourself so emotionally tied up that it's going to affect you personally."

Brenda, for her part, is making progress. She had the tumour removed, and her chances for recovery now appear to be excellent. The doctors can't ever be sure, of course, she says, but she's had no trouble, and it looks like they probably got it early enough.

She can't say nearly enough about the people at the hospice.

"They didn't impose anything... They were totally unconditional. They were there. I could cry on their shoulder if I needed to, or I could laugh with them."

"It was the same," she says laughing, "as it was with my dog — he was here, and he was totally unconditional."

It was difficult, she says, discussing it with her family. It seems to have been harder on them, she sometimes thinks, than it was on her. Talking to people she didn't know so well wasn't so difficult as might seem likely.

Says Brenda, "Being strangers helped. Being women also helped, a great deal. They may not have been in the same position. But they have similar feelings."

She's just heard from one of the hospice people a few days ago. As part of the follow-up, the hospice is staying in touch, calling at least every week, just to make sure she doesn't need anything.

"And this is it," she says. "They phone and check. They'll say if you don't want to talk, don't talk to me, that's fine. But they're there if you need them."

Owens says Brenda's experience is fairly common for people facing such an illness — it can be hard on the family, and often people are happy to talk to someone they don't know so well.

"You may want to protect your family," she says. "I think people who are facing life-threatening illnesses often protect their families tremendously."

They don't want to upset them. They don't want to say what they're feeling or what they're afraid of. They can do that with someone who is a comfortable stranger... And it might just be plain practical things. Things as simple as someone being able to sit with someone so their family members can go somewhere."

Says Brenda, "I really do believe in the hospice — they do marvellous work, just because they're there, and they're willing to listen... They just listen. And a lot of times, that's what you really, really need."

"I just can't say enough for them. They're marvellous."

The hospice program is taking volunteers, and is starting another training program at the beginning of November. The SIRCH office can be reached at 457-1742.

Stanhope airport

New manager at the controls

by Jerry Grozelle

Dennis LaFleur has been offered the position of Airport Manager at the Stanhope Community Airport. LaFleur took over on an interim basis this summer when Mike Carey accepted a job at another airport. His contract was due to expire on October 15, but Stanhope Council has offered LaFleur the job until the end of 1996, with an option for all of 1997 as well.

LaFleur commends Stanhope Council for its decision to keep services at a high level, especially in light of government funding cutbacks.

"Government funding was cut by 50 per cent in 1996 and it will be cut by 100 per cent in 1997," LaFleur said.

Hours of operation at the Stanhope Airport will be flexible. He says he expects to be there an average of 20 hours per week during the winter months, when there is less traffic and as many as 40 hours per week during the peak of activity at the facility. The average will be 30 hours per week.

The new manager worked with Ontario Hydro, repairing and stringing lines from a helicopter. He says flying has been a passion with him for a long time.

LaFleur says the arrangement is mutually beneficial to both him and the municipality. He, along with his wife Maria and Michael Davy, operates Solo Aviation out of the Stanhope Airport. Maria is the Operations Manager and Michael Davy is a certified flight instructor.

Solo has been operating from the Stanhope Airport since June of 1995. The company was incorporated in April of 1993. LaFleur says it was started as a sideline or hobby but has grown over the past three and a half years.

The company owns one plane, a fairly rare Cessna 150, which serves as a trainer, cargo plane, tour craft and rental unit. During peak months, Solo leases aircraft to keep up with the demand. The company is licensed to carry both passengers and cargo. The plane is often chartered for sightseeing and photography. The Ministry of Natural Resources sometimes uses Solo's services for reconnaissance, as well.

Stanhope Airport has applied for a Canpass designation. With this designation, air travellers would be able to clear customs into the United States without having to stop at another airport which has been designated as a customs clearance site. With Canpass, pilots may clear through customs by confirming their entry through an 800 telephone number.

LaFleur's arrangement with Stanhope Township is a contract, rather than being employed by the municipality. He says it is a mutually beneficial arrangement, which allows him to operate his business and take care of airport business virtually at the same time. With LaFleur on contract, the municipality doesn't have to pay benefits, thereby saving money.

"It's very good news for the flight school here," LaFleur said.

In its first year and a half at Stanhope, the flight school has assisted half a dozen pilots in obtaining their float plane endorsements.

The first recreational pilot licensee graduated from Stanhope recently. Robert De Virj, a professional opera singer who has a cottage on Boshkung Lake, has the distinction of being the first graduate. He had planned to participate in this past weekend's Fall Colours Fly-In by taking his first passenger (his wife) up for a flight.

LaFleur said the Stanhope Airport

Dennis LaFleur: new manager of the Stanhope Airport.

has plenty of visitors, mostly aviation enthusiasts. The Air Ambulance planes, Ontario Hydro and MNR are occasional users of Stanhope's air strip. LaFleur said that the number of American pilots who fly into Stanhope is increasing as well.

One of the largest aircraft to use the airport is a Beech 100, which LaFleur says is a "fairly large twin (engine)" airplane, which is operated by Transport Canada.

LaFleur, his wife Maria and their three children live in Norland. Dennis says he plans to sell the house in Norland and move closer to the airport.

Editorial The community's unsung heroes

Each week, it seems, we feature an article about an organization or group in the county. Most are doing good deeds, providing valuable services or helping others in the community find their way through the world.

As we read through the reports, we realized that most, if not all of these organizations rely extensively on volunteers. This week, for example, the work of volunteers who serve in the outreach hospice is featured. In earlier editions it was the Women's Emergency House. There are likely few individuals in the county whose lives haven't been touched by the efforts of a volunteer.

Members of service clubs lend their time, expertise and enthusiasm to community causes; groups targeting specific causes ensure that individuals with special needs are not overlooked; while others consider issues of import to our community, helping it function smoothly, provide recreational opportunities and encourage its growth.

Volunteers are everywhere, and because they are involved in so many aspects of the community, their contributions, individually and as a collective, are sometimes overlooked and often under-valued. Needless to say, if all volunteer contributions were withdrawn we would certainly find ourselves to be living in a much harsher world.

Not only does the community benefit from the efforts of volunteers, the individuals who step forward to help gain as well. They learn new skills, make new friends and find the reward for their contribution not in monetary returns, but in the satisfaction of doing something worthwhile for others.

So hats off to all those who have volunteered their time for the benefit of the community. Your services, and those of others who have yet to discover the rewards of volunteerism, will be increasingly important in the years to come. Keep up the good work

An excellent area in which to live, if only....

Editor:

The October 21 publication is really a banner issue for The Times.

First your excellent editorial plus Andrew Milne's coverage of the latest edition of John Snobelen's "crisis", show that the "Common Sense Revolution" has become Ontario's disaster.

Secondly, Andrew's article, the Editorial cartoon and Margaret Swanton's letter shed a lot of much-needed light on the sneaky doings in Snowdon Township. We should all be aware that Snowdon's Reeve is one of the people hell-bent on restructuring our County. Perhaps there are volumes on the Internet that we computer illiterates are totally unaware of.

In light of the foregoing, it was great to read about the turn-around at our hospital. God was very kind when He sent Doctors Doug and Dave Fiddler to our area. We know from personal and second-hand experience that they are role models for any young doctor.

In Sandy's first experience with Ross Memorial Hospital Emergency, only the skill and care of Dr. Baeta saved her life, in spite of total neglect by the doctor on call. In her second experience, she had the good fortune to have Dr. Fiddler. She was treated with the ultimate in skill, kindness and compassion by Dr. Fiddler and the Emergency Staff. You would not know it was the same hospital. Apparently his attitude is contributing to the re-birth of Minden Hospital.

Thanks to Doctors Baeta and Fiddler we have joined the five year pledge to R.M.

Hospital.

We live in one of the best areas in the world, but if we don't watch our crazy politicians, they'll ruin our health system and education, or bury us in garbage.

Thanks for your excellent local coverage.

Sincerely,
Bill Valentine
Lutterworth Township.

Irondale dump deal

Editor:

After receiving an unexpected letter from the Township of Snowdon on September 30, 1996 (giving me until October 7 to comment or ask questions) I made an unscheduled visit to my Irondale property on October 5. I believed this was necessary, after making some telephone inquiries, to gain some understanding of the decision of Council to accept 6000 metric tons of automotive waste (shredder fluff) from Whitby Auto Wreckers.

While a few of my neighbours knew of this action (as a result of my earlier telephone calls) most were unaware, shocked, and expressed indignation at not having been informed and consulted.

I telephone Reeve Siminons' home upon my arrival in Irondale and left a message that I wished to meet with him. The Reeve met me at my property adjoining the Irondale Landfill shortly after; we had a lengthy and wide-ranging discussion.

As explained by Reeve Simmons, Council's decision to pursue an outside waste contract is inter-twined with the Lochlin Landfill. This Landfill contaminated a neighbour's property, the Township could not afford the decontamination costs (several hundred thousand dollars) and decided the least expensive resolution was to purchase the neighbour's property. This deal has caused the Township to be in a deficit position and the Council wants to retire this debt before going to a county-wide system of government. The Reeve explained that competition among municipalities for these waste contracts was intense; Council had to work long and hard and had to underbid other municipalities to win the Irondale waste deal at $65,000.

Reeve Simmons assured me the Township has complied with all the regulatory requirements. The shredder fluff has been approved by the MOEE, the District Manager of MOEE (Gravenhurst) has approved a one-time exemption to the Irondale Landfill's Certificate of Approval to accept outside waste and the required notice was placed on the Internet. He acknowledged the Township's action was a breach of the assurances I was given when I purchased my property - that the Landfill "was licensed for, and would only accept local, non-toxic, (bio-degradable) waste, eg., household waste, construction material, etc."

Reeve Simmons also agreed, that while Council had met the legal regulatory requirements in respect to their waste proposal, they had the opportunity to consult with residents over the past months, but did not. He agreed that notification via a written public notice in the local newspapers, even before the Township's proposal was submitted to MOEE would have provided the opportunity for public input. Are residents concerned about the Township debt? What are the consequences of this waste initiative? Are there alternatives?

I requested that Reeve Simmons arrange a Council meeting during the week of October 21 so the two adjoining property owners and other area residents could be consulted. He agreed, such a meeting was deemed to be proper, necessary and would take place that week.

I have made numerous telephone calls and talked to many of my neighbours over the past two weeks in an attempt to gather as many facts as possible and to gain some understanding of this shredder fluff.

I have learned of past, clandestine dumping of liquid material before the Irondale Landfill was secured by gates. I have also learned that the Environmental Bill of Rights (EBR) Registry is not on the Internet; it is on a computer Bulletin Board Service. It can be accessed at the Main Branch of the Haliburton County Library, at MOEE offices, or through one's own personal computer (you will need a modem and an account number). One would have to search the MOEE listings to determine if Snowdon Township was proposing anything in respect to Landfills. The EBR Registry listed the proposal on August 12, 1996 and gave until September 11, 1996 for public comment. Since there was no expression of public concern, MOEE approved Council's outside waste proposal, virtually automatically.

The Times welcomes signed letters to the editor on subjects of interest to our readers. Short letters are most likely to be chosen for publication, but the use of any material is at the discretion of the editor. The editor reserves the right to edit letters to meet space requirements, for clarity or to avoid obscenity, libel or invasion of privacy. All letters must bear the handwritten signature of the writer and include the address and phone number for verification purposes.

"shredded automotive waste may be classified as a solid, registerable, non-hazardous waste according to the Leachate Quality Criteria outlined in Schedule 4 of Ontario Regulation 347". What does all this mean? My environmental contacts tell me, it means that within a relatively shallow and narrow band of chemical analyses the material can be considered safe. I am not satisfied!

I have also been informed about how the synthetic materials in "Shredder Fluff" begin to break-down or decompose and create new chemical by-products which interact and cause numerous other chemical chain-reactions. Apparently the final end toxins are not pleasant.

On October 8, I faxed a letter to the Township objecting to Council's intent to pursue this outside waste contract. I requested a number of documents to be sent to me, so I will have the essential background information necessary to assess and comment on, Council's proposed action.

While I applaud Council's entrepreneurship I would respectfully suggest, in light of the Township's past experiences in dealing with Landfill matters, that Council should take every opportunity to provide a forum for public consultation before proceeding with their Irondale proposal. Council needs to also be concerned about creating any long-term liability problems for the Township.

I was informed on October 15 that the documents I requested from the Township were in the mail, as of October 11. Also, a meeting during the week of October 21 is not convenient for all councillors, and I would be informed of a date for a meeting.

The cruelest joke of all

First Newfoundlander: Did you hear that Quebec wants to leave Canada?

Second Newfoundlander: Why that would be fine, b'y.

First Newfoundlander: Fine? Why do you think it would be fine?

Second Newfoundlander: It'll cut eight hours off the drive to Toronto, my son.

Poor old Newfies. For decades they've been the butt of our jokes in Canada. And just when it looked like they might finally be gaining some respect, we find out about the Churchill Falls Hydroelectric deal.

The deal, if we can call it that, works like this. The Province of Quebec lends the Province of Newfoundland money to dam Churchill Falls, in Labrador. In return, Newfoundland allows Quebec to buy all the electricity she wants at bargain-basement prices. Naturally, Quebec scoops it up by the megawatt and flogs it to the States making billions of dollars in the process.

But it's okay, because the deal only goes to the middle of the next century.

Talk about a Newfie Joke.

History has not been kind to Newfoundland. Her first people, the Beothucks were hunted to extermination by early European settlers. A succession of robber barons plundered her natural resources, making sure the Island entered the twentieth century barefoot and impoverished. In mid-century, Premier Joey Smallwood changed her face forever when he shut down the Outports in a misguided attempt at 'modernization'.

Then the cod disappeared.

Now this.

And through it all Newfoundland somehow manages to remain one of the most vibrant, fascinating places in this whole patchwork quilt we call Canada. It's a magical garden, full of unforgettable scenery, unbelievable wildlife—and people who—how un-Canadian—actually know who they are.

No thanks to fate. Or the Newfoundland government.

Next year, Newfoundland will celebrate Cabot 500. A half a millennium ago, in 1497, John Cabot waded ashore at Newfoundland and planted a British flag in the stony, unforgiving beach. For the next 500 years Newfoundlanders, clung like limpets to what Joey himself called "this old, bald rock", lashed by the waves of the icy North Atlantic.

And next year, Newfoundlanders will celebrate it by waving American-made flags at a British-made ship.

You'd think the Newfoundland Tourism Department might have given the nod to a local flagmaker for the 1,000 flags, 300 banners and 11,000 pennants they wanted for Cabot 500.

And they would have liked to, they really would. But there was this firm from Atlanta, you see, which submitted a lower bid and...

Well, that's the Canadian way, isn't it?

As someone once said, a Canadian is someone who drinks Brazilian coffee from an English teacup and munches a French pastry while sitting on his Danish furniture, having just come home from an Italian movie in his German car. He picks up his Japanese pen and writes to his Member of Parliament to complain about the American takeover of the Canadian publishing business.

What next? Will the government sell Mountie merchandising rights to Walt Disney?

Naw. That could never happen.

Stanhope struggles with road deficit

"A very essential service is going over budget," said Stanhope Deputy-Reeve Eleanor Harrison during discussions regarding ice and water rescue training and equipment for Stanhope fire fighters. The comments were made during Stanhope's October municipal council meeting.

Harrison was referring to the Roads Department, which is facing a $26,000 deficit.

Township officials discussed the situation with Roads Department employees and it was decided to reduce the hours of work across the board to avoid laying anyone off.

As of October 21, Roads Department employees are working four days per week. The 32-hour work week will remain in effect indefinitely.

"We consulted with the men and they concurred that this was the best way to handle the situation," said Reeve Jock Mavor. "We didn't want a devastating situation for any one person."

"Sometimes you have to do something you don't like to do," Mavor added.

Mavor said that all departments were asked to cut back in light of the reductions in transfer payments. The Roads Department budget was reduced by just four per cent, the smallest cut of any department.

A number of factors contributed to the budget over-run, including the weather, which caused wash-outs and other unforeseen problems.

Mavor was emphatic when he said the reduced work week will not impact winter maintenance such as snow removal. He said that if a weekend snow storm requires extra manpower to keep the roads safe, an adequate number of personnel will be called in to deal with the situation.

"Forming a budget is very difficult," Mavor said.

Drug Awareness Week

Open communication should help ease drug and alcohol challenges

The Addiction Research Foundation (ARF) in its "Take Action" booklet states "while every family has its problems, most families can be a source of great happiness, love, and support when difficulties arise".

To prevent problems with alcohol and other drugs ARF suggests these steps: "talk about it" (talk about alcohol and other drugs before there is a problem); "support each other" (show your love, listen, follow through with promises, and be ready to help when asked); "set the rules" (have a set of rules for all important issues, including the use of alcohol and other drugs - the whole family should be involved in making the rules); "be a good role model" (children notice and imitate the way their parents, older siblings, other relatives, and friends handle alcohol, tobacco, and other drugs); "express yourself" (don't keep your feelings bottled up - be as clear as possible when you talk about how a family member's use of alcohol or other drugs makes you feel); and "make time for one another" (even when you're not doing one of your favorite activities, participating in other family member's activities shows interest and respect).

To deal with alcohol and other drug problems ARF suggests these steps: "raise the issue" (pick a good time to talk when people are calm and there are no distractions - if you don't feel safe about talking to the person, get help from a professional in your community); "solve problems together" (serious problems such as alcohol and drug abuse do not go away on their own - they have to be dealt with); "learn how to cope" (it's okay to be angry and still love and care for the family member with the problem, don't blame yourself, find a balance between helping and taking over, and remember your own health, safety, and well-being are important - you may need support even if you're not the one with the problem); "handle conflict wisely" (sometimes conflict can be dealt with right away, but often it's better to wait until the crisis has passed and family members have calmed down); and, "know how to get help" (encourage the person with the problem to get help, remember that related issues may have to be dealt with such as marital, emotional, financial, legal, and health problems). Help is available in Haliburton County from the following professionals: your family doctor; FourCAST Addiction Services 457-1630 and your District Health Unit 457-1391.

Drug Awareness Week '96 (DAW) is scheduled for November 15 - 24. The Haliburton Community Action Group on Alcohol and Drugs (CAG), (a sub-committee of the Haliburton County Social Action Committee) is currently planning events for the week. The events will help raise awareness of substance use issues, suggest healthy lifestyle options, and present information describing how to prevent and deal with problems arising from substance abuse.

The theme this year focuses on "youth", the message is "Choice, Consequence, Responsibility" and the slogan is "Choices: You've Got The Power". A schedule of DAW events will be printed in a future issue of the paper. If you require more information please contact Ginny Heming at 457-2310 (Coordinator DAW '96) or Michele Bromley (CAG Chair) at 457-1630.

HHSS hockey coach excited about 1996-97 season's prospects

by Jerry Grozelle

Ron Yake, head coach of the Haliburton Highlands Secondary School Redmen hockey team says he's looking forward to the coming hockey season.

"I expect a better season this year than last," Yake said. "Last year we just squeaked into the playoffs."

It will be a few weeks into the season, which starts for the Redmen with a home game against Campbellford on Tuesday, November 5, before the stronger teams will make their presence felt. But Yake is optimistic.

"It looks pretty good," he said. "We don't have any super-stars, but we have three solid lines, solid defense and solid goaltending. It looks like it's going to be a good season."

The 1996-97 Redmen hockey team will have a nucleus of half a dozen returning veterans of the Kawartha High School Hockey League. Of the six veterans, four are forwards and two are defensemen.

This season's team has a size advantage over last year's squad.

"We should be able to make use of the extra size," Yake said.

A few members of the Redmen have had AAA hockey experience, with the Central Ontario Wolves. They include Chris Moynes, Greg Luck, Nick Kulas, Ken Ablett and Dan Jordan.

Goaltending duties will be shared by Ashley Walker and Blaze Foster.

"It should be a well balanced team," Yake said. "There won't be many weak spots."

One team the Redmen faced last year has withdrawn from the league. The vacancy left by the departure of the Lakefield Tigers, will be filled by a team from Peterborough Collegiate and Vocational School. Lindsay Collegiate will not ice a team this year, for the second consecutive season.

Yake said that he hasn't arranged any exhibition games, preferring, instead, to spend the time in practice, getting ready for next week's season opener.

Cross-Country running

Blayne Saunders wins COSSA bronze medal

Blayne Saunders is the first male cross country runner from Haliburton Highlands Secondary School to win a medal in COSSA competition in 25 years. He was the bronze medalist in the midget boys division.

Saunders will be going to the OFSAA championship at Sunnybrook Park in Toronto Friday and Saturday.

"It was a really tough course at Trinity College in Port Hope," said coach Paul Morissette. "It was like the Scenic Lookout road only steeper."

Saunders placed second at the Kawartha meet.

Saunders is a graduate of Archie Stouffer Elementary School, where he set several school cross country running records.

"I think he'll do well at OFSAA," Morissette said.

The junior girls placed third at the Kawartha championship. Stephanie Ratz was third in the individual junior girls competition.

Kelly Ketner was in the top 10 among about 50 competitors in the midget girls competition.

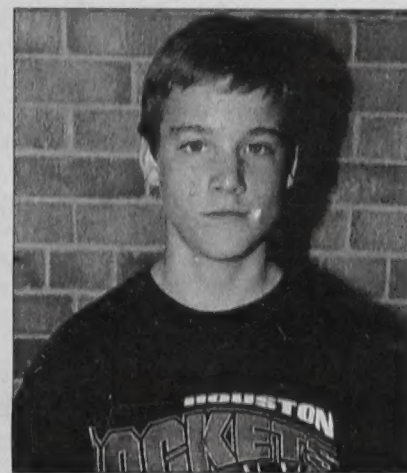

Matt Heffer was in the top half in a large field of senior boys.

Dan Wright and John Craig were strong performers in the junior boys division.

The junior girls were one position out of the medals at COSSA. They qualified as alternates for OFSAA. The team includes Kelly Ketner, Caitlin Pettit, Reagan Brown, Catherine Haggerman and Stephanie Ratz.

HHSS was well represented at COSSA with more than 20 competitors.

Burton, Dollo, Farrell and Terveld lead the packLawn Bowlers take to the links

Although there was no lawn bowling in Minden this past summer, the bowlers did hold their annual golf tournament on September 20 at the Beaverbrook Golf Course.

The first place winners were Jim Burton, Chris Dollo, Stan Farrell and Harry Terveld. In second place were Ross Farr, Tom Hurtt, Shirley Terveld and Hal Burton. Ruth Orr made the longest drive in the ladies' competition and Marion Farr came closest to the hole.

Following the tournament other members joined the golfers in the basement of the United Church for a barbecue and the annual fall meeting.

Ross Farr, Katie Parker, Howie Ryan and Eleanor Sewell were the four new directors elected so the 1997 executive is as follows: Ross Farr Past President. Barbara Walker President. Shirley Terveld 1st Vice. Jim Hindle 2nd Vice. Cecil Rowe Treasurer. Marion Farr Secretary. Directors: Lewis Tompkins, Eleanor Sewell, Katie Parker, Madge Bennett and Howie Ryan.

The building committee consisting of Lew Tompkins, Bill Walker, Jim Hindle, Ross Farr and Howie Ryan discussed with the members the plans they were going to present to the Council with the hope that a building would be in place for the 1997 season.

Peewee B Monarchs burned by Flames

by Paul Lowe

With a season opening that has been parallel to the Toronto Maple Leafs, the Minden peewee B royalty has been struggling to find the cohesiveness that makes things work. The visiting Ops Flames displayed a bit of heat by downing the Monarchs 3-1.

Minden's lone goal was scored by Anthony Wu, a late arrival to the Minden camp.

With the addition of the new windows that offer an excellent view from the second floor, Tuesday night Rotary Bingo players were able to witness the battle that unfolded on the ice.

Mark Snell, showing his territorial prowess between the pipes, protested that the first Ops goal was the result of the scorer being in his crease. After several attempts to reverse the referee's decision, to no avail, Mark settled in to what proved to be a busy night.

Steven Johnson, showing that his defensive ability is strongly supported by his offensive drive, stepped off the blue line several times to help create some offensive pressure. Other strong supporters were Jordan Campbell and Greg Vanderlip.

Art appreciation group delights in discovery

by Morris Duff

Every second Monday, more than a dozen Haliburton County enthusiasts gather to discuss the history of art. At present, they are in the midst of the Post-Impressionists--VanGough, Gauguin, Cezanne. The group was formed last spring and began with the Renaissance, especially Leonardo daVinci and Michelangelo.

"I am really pleased," said June Stewart, who suggested the gathering. "Anything over six or eight people is big for Haliburton. We regularly get 14 to 16."

Participants view examples of the paintings on slides (Stewart, as a retired Etobicoke high school art teacher, has sources), videos and books. Several members have presented papers on artists such as Gauguin (Ken MacLeod), Rembrandt (Mimi Carson), daVinci (Gerry Vandenbrink) and Rubins (Morris Duff).

A bus trip to the Art Gallery of Ontario (AGO), in Toronto, on Wednesday, October 30 was conceived by members of the group, inspired by their discussions of the Impressionists (Manet, Monet, Renoir) and Post-Impressionists. The Toronto Gallery will provide guides.

Anyone interested in joining the group on the tour is welcome. The cost, $50, pays for the bus, the tour and a chicken dinner. The bus will leave the Rails' End Gallery, Haliburton, at 8.30 a.m. and the Agnes Jamieson in Minden at 9. Tickets can be purchased from either gallery.

Stewart has been thinking for some time about organizing an art history discussion. Thinking turned into action last April, on a bus returning people from the AGO where they had seen the Group of Seven show. People got talking, the enthusiasm was obvious, and 14 started looking into the early Renaissance.

Stewart, wife of artist Jim Stewart whose studio stands on Highway 121 just west of Haliburton village, is known as one of the most vibrant women in the Highlands. Every project she touches is filled with her enthusiasm.

It is the enthusiasm possessed by teachers who are fondly remembered by their old students. That enthusiasm exudes from every comment she makes in the discussions.

It also can be seen in her other volunteer work: an organizer of the Concert Series, vice president of the Rails' End Gallery and a bridge player who drives to Toronto for games.

Her philosophy on living life fully in retirement probably is shared by the other participants in the art discussion group.

For example, Lynn Hancock of Mountain Lake, said, "I've enjoyed learning about the painters on a more personal basis rather than just looking at the paintings in an art gallery. It's interesting to see the personal problems they've had to overcome."

Hancock is in the process of researching a presentation on Renoir for the group's meeting. "I can see how they were struggling to produce those paintings."

"I think I go because of the joy of learning together," commented another participant, Gerry Vandenbrink of Blairhampton Rd. "The sharing makes it so much more enjoyable than studying it by yourself or going into a museum alone."

His neighbor, Ken MacLeod, recalled preparing his presentation of Gauguin. "Suddenly I got to know this man very well. I was walking in the same moccasins for a while, by reading a couple of books. That will stay with me for the rest of my life."

Mimi Carson, of Lochlin, said her 12 year old granddaughter has just completed a project on Renoir. "I'll be able to converse with her intelligently."

"And it is so beautiful here in the Highlands," Carson added, "that we are stimulated to appreciate art."

Ice and water rescue training planned

Stanhope Fire Chief Bob Pollard explained to municipal council earlier this month that an Ice and Water Rescue Course will be held in January of 1997. He and Dan Stiver plan to take the course, which will qualify them to train their own fire department personnel.

Two specialized suits will be required at a cost of about $550 each.

Deputy-Reeve Eleanor Harrison questioned whether the municipality could afford the costs of equipment and training at this time.

"I'm not comfortable supporting it without a comprehensive cost analysis," she said.

Pollard explained that the courses are free. The only costs involved would be reimbursement for lost wages of the two participants and the cost of the suits.

"We will then be able to train our own personnel at no cost," he said.

Councillor Ann Barker noted that there have been several drownings in Stanhope Township over the past few years. She voiced her support for the training.

Reeve Jock Mavor said he felt the township was obligated to provide the appropriate training.

"There would be too much burden on council if the training isn't provided," he said.

The fire department currently has the funds within its budget to cover the costs.

"The Fire Department has lived frugally to remain within its budget with this in sight," Mavor said.

Committee will study alcohol policy

The following items were discussed at the October meeting of Stanhope Municipal Council.

Alcohol policy

Representatives of the Addiction Research Foundation (ARF) will be working with Stanhope Township to develop an alcohol policy for the municipality.

The goal is to limit the availability of alcohol in restricted areas, reduce alcohol related accidents and vandalism, a spokesman explained. An effective policy would also reduce the township's liability.

Education is a big part of the policy. Jennifer Barr of ARF explained that it is illegal to serve alcohol to anyone to the point of intoxication. Anyone who serves alcohol at a municipal function or one that is sponsored by a municipality must be aware of that, and other, legalities.

In the event of an alcohol-related motor vehicle accident, the driver, as well as the server, the organization holding the function and the municipality are all likely to be faced with lawsuits. Since a municipality is likely to have the highest potential to pay, it is usually stuck with the lion's share of the bill.

"There may be some initial opposition to an alcohol policy," Barr said. "But once people learn the liabilities involved, they are usually more willing to go along with it."

Some neighbouring municipalities have developed alcohol policies, but Barr cautioned that each municipality needs consultation with such organizations as service groups, which often serve alcohol at events.

Reeve Mavor was concerned that the time frame to implement such a policy could take several months.

"I think it's a very worthwhile project and we should get on with it," said Councillor Jim Hicks. He is in favour of obtaining copies of other municipalities' alcohol policies and using them to formulate a policy for Stanhope.

"We don't have to reinvent the wheel," he said.

Hicks will chair a meeting to establish a task force to develop Stanhope's policy on alcohol.

Is the township liable?

Barry Miscio and his solicitor David Bishop attended the Stanhope council meeting last week seeking some form of compensation regarding a residential property Miscio purchased in the township. Miscio found that there was water seepage in the basement of the house. Since a building permit had been issued and it is the township's responsibility to ensure that any construction conforms to regulations, Bishop is requesting some financial assistance for his client with regard to the cost of repairs.

Bishop explained that the O-pipe around the house was improperly installed, causing the seepage problem. He said that the township had been asked if there were any problems and his client relied on the township's answers in making his decision to purchase the property.

Bishop suggested that there may not have been adequate inspections during the construction process.

"He wouldn't have had the problems if adequate inspections were carried out," Bishop said.

A letter to the township regarding the situation was forwarded to the township solicitor, who denied any municipal responsibility.

Bishop said that Miscio has gone to "a great deal of expense" to correct the problem.

Said Reeve Jock Mavor, "A great deal of expense is of no value to me; I would need a specific dollar value."

Bishop agreed to provide a specific figure. He also said that Miscio had done some of the work himself, but he wouldn't be seeking compensation for his own labour.

500 per cent increase

The federal Ministry of Fisheries and Oceans has informed Stanhope Township that two water lot leases in the township, on Big Hawk and Little Hawk lakes, will now cost $500 each per annum. That is five times what the municipality has paid for the leases in the past.

The fees have been passed on to marinas which use the water lots.

"A 500 per cent increase is unconscionable," Mavor said.

Deputy-Reeve Eleanor Harrison suggested that council voice its disapproval about the increase.

Table donation

Two picnic tables have mysteriously appeared at Elvin Johnson Park. Nobody has claimed responsibility for the tables, but council has expressed its appreciation to the anonymous donor(s).

Adopt-A-Park

Stanhope may be supporting the Adopt-A-Park concept. The program encourages nearby residents and property owners' associations to look after parks in their area. A similar project in Muskoka has been well received. The vandalism has been reduced with the involvement of local property owners.

Former Stanhope Reeve Fred Gardner, who was among the people in the audience, quipped, "The next thing you know, they'll have an Adopt-A-Dump program."

Candy is a popular addition at student-run store

by Sue Carr, HHSS reporter

Recent visitors to our high school may have noticed a gleam in the students' eyes that just wasn't there last year.

HHSS teachers are no doubt noticing too that, every day, right after lunch, a surge of energy seems to boost each teenager's awareness level.

It would be nice to say that all the excitement is due to school enthusiasm, but it's more likely that the students are finding that extra surge of energy from a new service offered by the Retailing class in the school. Teacher Irv Sternberg is the founder and part-operator of the HHSS School Store, which opened September of the 1994-95 school year, after careful planning and business proposal writing.

The first two years looked shaky for the store, as spirit wear and supplies sold only in small amounts during Christmas and Spirit week, but, now in its third year, the store is booming. "It's a happening place now," stresses Sternberg.

The sudden popularity of the store, as well as the gleams and energy boosts, are attributed mainly to the addition of a new product line--candy. Each lunch hour, a huge mob of sugar-addicted students crowd around the store, pushing their spare change forward eager for a candy-coated treat. But Sternberg's not complaining. In fact, according to him, no one is complaining.

"The interesting thing," he says, "is that I've heard no complaints. I'm really proud of the students. They take pride in their school and know that a mess could mean an end to the candy." Besides providing a "nickel thrill" for the students (and teachers) who purchase the candy, the addition of snacks has provided more experience for the Retailing students who, as part of the course, are in charge of the store. Each student involved in the Retailing course must put in a mandatory two weeks, or ten lunch-hours, at the store. The work gives them a chance to put their classroom learning into practice.

With the recent boom in sales, these students are getting more experience than ever before, perfecting the art of promoting the store, arranging the displays, conducting the sales, and handling the profits, which are used within the school.

Other students are beginning to help with the store experience as well. Besides helping to make the store look better, Sternberg says that the opportunity is open for creative students who are interested in manufacturing products that feature the HHSS logo, or school colours (red and white). All money made from the sales of these products would go right back to the students who manufactured the goods. Sternberg feels that this promotes school spirit and entrepreneurship skills.

The candy addition has definitely provided a thrill for students in need of a quick energy boost. But why would students stand in line for nickel candy? "It's a small indulgence," Sternberg explains, "It's this thrill, an inexpensive thrill, and by spending a quarter, it makes (the students) feel positive, makes them feel good. It's a reward." And after a morning of hard-work, that might be just what we students need.

Even indoor cats need the protection of vaccinations

by Kimberley Joyce DVM

Cats are generally very robust creatures. They have an incredible ability to heal themselves. Sometimes it seems as though they do indeed have 'nine lives'. Unfortunately, cats can spread disease quickly through mutual grooming, fighting, and group feeding. Due to their predatory skills, cats are more likely to contract rabies.

Young kittens, unvaccinated cats, and cats of multi-cat households are at great risk of developing Feline Upper Respiratory Disease Complex. This disease complex can be a combination of viruses and bacteria. Like a bad 'cold', the most common signs are watery eyes, loss of appetite, sneezing and discharge from the nose. The severity of the disease ranges greatly depending on the causative agents involved. Veterinary attention is often needed. Although most cats appear to recover quickly, up to 80% relapse with the infection when stressed. For years thereafter, these cats pose as a major source of infection for others.

Early vaccination can prevent or minimize the course of Upper Respiratory Disease Complex. However, once a cat is infected vaccination does little to reduce the symptoms or shedding of the virus. Prevention is key.

Cats are tough but feline viruses are even tougher. At the present time, viral Feline Leukaemia is still quite active in the unvaccinated population. This disease can be fatal. Veterinary researchers are constantly trying to upgrade the vaccine for Feline Leukaemia. Feline Distemper (or viral Panleukopenia) has been all but eradicated from the cat population through prudent vaccination protocols. Unfortunately, we do not have a vaccine for Feline Immunodeficiency Virus (a disease of cats only). There is a vaccine available for Feline Infectious Peritonitis but it is still being perfected in veterinary laboratories. The present vaccine for this fatal disease can only be given intranasally (by squirting it up the nose). Remember to ask your veterinarian or cat breeder about these viruses if you are at all concerned.

As a cat owner, you can protect your feline friend. If your cat goes outside be aware that neighbourhood cat confrontations are imminent. Neuter your cat to reduce the incidence of fighting. Realize that newly acquired and visiting cats can be carriers of disease. Protect your cat with regular vaccination. Lastly, I must stress the need to vaccinate indoor cats. Due to their lack of outdoor exposure, these cats have little natural immunity against common infectious diseases. One cannot anticipate when an indoor cat will be inadvertently exposed to disease. Unexpected exposure can occur when indoor cats require veterinary attention or travel abroad with their owners. Some viruses can be spread via aerosol and clothing. Without vaccination, indoor cats are extremely vulnerable to disease.

Future instalments will address common behaviour problems of cats and dogs. "Inappropriate" behaviour is the number one cause of euthanasia.

Parade Co-ordinated by The Minden Lions Club

Around the County Town

by Gord Graham (call 286-6506-- FAX 286-3460)

Hats off to the ladies from Lochlin who have started making bedrolls for the homeless again. They have made 3 already and plan another joint effort for more on Tuesday and Wednesday of this week.

The County Town Museum Committee's next meeting is tomorrow, October 29 at 10:00 a.m. in the common room of the Art Gallery.

Hazel Austin and her daughter Margo Sisson visited Hazel's sister Ellen and brother Bill in Glace Bay recently. While there, Hazel looked up a good friend, Julie, whom she worked with 53 years ago, and met Julie's husband, Tony for the first time.

The Fibromyalgia Syndrome and Chronic Fatigue support group meeting will be held on Monday, November 4 at 7:00 p.m. at the Roodenburg residence. For more information, call Michelle at 489-1999 or 1-800-959-9098.

The Minden and District Horticultural Society will be meeting Tuesday, November 5 at 7:30 p.m. in the Hyland Crest auditorium. Guest speaker will be Ann Neave, of Minden, speaking about "Christmas".

St. Paul's Friendship Club had a record number of euchre participants last Monday. They were thrilled to host 19 players. High scores were held by Betty Hardy and Verna McDonald while Nancy Gayton held the low score and Pearl Cowan the most lone hands. Hazel Austin won the 50-50 draw which she really appreciated just having returned from a trip to Glace Bay. Come and join them 1:30 p.m. every Monday.

Club 35 has a euchre party every Monday at 7:30 p.m. Everyone is welcome to join in - partners are not required. Last week Pearl Kernohan and Harry Randell were the high score winners. Bob Lewis held the most lone hands while Lew Penick won the 50-50 draw. Helen Henderson and Marjorie Cowen also won prizes.

Results of the contract bridge played at the Stanhope Library last week were June Branning first, Russ Fair second and Vange Croucher third. Two small slams were bid and made by Pearl Foster and Betty Culley and by Earl Hayne and Betty. You are most welcome to come out and join them each Tuesday at 1:00 p.m. Partners are not required.

Bid euchre games are held by the seniors in the Minden Legion every Tuesday at 1:30 p.m. Last week Mary Wilson was first, Marie Dennie second and Ann Baker third. Mary Colman had the hidden score and Marg McAfee a moonshot along with Ann and Mary.

Last week, Lochlin held the euchre party and Al Cooper and Rheta Crofts had the high score, Earl Schellenberg and Bessie Burk the low score and Marvin Gilbert the most lone hands. Play euchre with these folks every Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. This week in Gelert and next week back to Lochlin.

They play bid euchre in the Stanhope Firefighters Hall every Wednesday at 7:00 p.m. A warm welcome is extended to everyone. Last week's winners were Ida Young 289, Gala Stamp 287, Bill Milford 282, Pearl Foster 278, Pat Roussel 256 and Muriel Harrington 253.

The Minden Legion hosts euchre every Thursday at 7:15 p.m. On October 17 Sandy Kieckhoefer and Bill Mitchell had the high scores and Vi Edgson and Ken Young had the most lone hands.

There were 7 other prizes distributed as well to Ellen, Earl, Sherin, Cec, Helen, Bill and May.

HEALTH CORNER

Keeping blood vessels healthy has become an obsession among the over-50 generation. And rightly so, given that an inordinate number of deaths as well as severe debilitation may be the result of our failure to do so. Fortunately, science has come a long way in understanding just what happens when blood vessels, our pipelines, are unable to perform their function adequately. Sadly, however, there is much more to be learned still so it's important you continue a healthy lifestyle.

Mr. & Mrs. Norm MacKinnon of South Lake are very proud to announce the recent wedding of their daughter Pamela Ann to Dale Lee, son of Mr. & Mrs. Al Lee of Coboconk. The couple exchanged vows on Labour Day weekend at an outdoor ceremony at the Wigamog Inn.

Dale, a captain and helicopter pilot in the Canadian Air Force is stationed at CFB Borden where he instructs on Canada's new Gryphon helicopters. Pam is presently employed at Georgian College in Barrie. The couple is living at Base Borden.

CARDS OF THANKS

Thank You! Thank You!
Back home again, the founders of Maple Sands were celebrating their Golden Wedding as they took over the resort for the weekend. Thanks to all the family from far and wide, friends, neighbours and dignitaries of the community with their best wishes, beautiful cards and a sea of yellow roses and floral tributes. Mother Nature too was in step with 24K gold maples on both sides of the road as we drove in to the picturesque inn and managing to hold off the rain for our special occasion. The open house with lunch by the U.C.W., the delicious gourmet banquet dinner and Sunday brunch by the innkeepers and dance with "Golden Oldies" music all blended together perfectly to set the stage for socializing. People like Des and Phyllis planning, decorating and providing the music and Gloria's spectacular wedding cakes did so much to make our 50th milestone one we will treasure and remember forever.
We thank all of you.
Dale and Wanda Anthes.

A message of SINCERE THANKS to all of you who extended your kindness through well wishes, cards, flowers, gifts and phone calls. Thank you all for your prayers during my month long illness at the Toronto Hospital. Sincere apologies to the customers of Epsilon Satellite who were inconvenienced by my sudden absence. We appreciate your patience while our office is being reorganized, because of my illness. A special thank you to my husband Archie, my sister Christine, my Mom and Dad and my children, Julia, Chris and Shawn who spent long hours with me at the Toronto Hospital while I was in critical condition. Thank you to my friends, my staff and to all who lent a helping hand. I will be eternally grateful and forever thankful to you all.
Mrs. M.J. Dobbins (Epsilon Satellite).

The Mental Illness Awareness Committee would like to thank the following: Dr. Barry Jones, Eli Lilly Inc., PineStone Inn, Holly Patrick, Minden IDA Drug Store, Joel Levis, Minden and Dysart Libraries, all volunteers and Kate Reid. We couldn't have done it without you. 10D
